Another Bug.

Besides the seventeen-year-old locust, we have another bug due in a short time. The golf bug. About this time he can be found massaging the rust off his clubs and oiling up the kinks in his wrists with midiron, mashie and putting practice on the parlor floor blanket. He goes through more motions than Houdini unbuckling himself loose from a straight-jacket tuxedo, over what he calls "getting into form." "Form," in golf, is a series of tricks to make one have a hard time of it trying to play a simple game. At the first game "form" will leave him with a one-way ticket for parts unknown. Then he will turn in a fair score after each game, providing he marks up the strokes himself. At this stanza of the year the golf bug is all strung up like a harp, waiting for the opening "slice" of the cornfield pool season.—Gene Ahern.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Aerial Service for Passengers, Mail and Merchandise.

BIRDMEN MEET NEXT MONTH

Big Convention of Pan-American Aeronauts Will Stimulate Enlistments in the U. S. Air Service.

Washington, April 16.—Atlantic City, N. J., will be the Mecca for a large gathering of American men, and representatives of foreign countries, who will be attracted by the first Pan-American Aeronautics convention, which meets there in May.

Capt. Charles J. Glidden of the United States air service, military aeronautics, now stationed in the administrative department of the United States flying school, Southerfield, Ga., says:

"The Pan-American Aeronautics convention and exhibition to be held at Atlantic City during the month of May will bring to the attention of the American people the wonderful progress of aviation. The work of aircraft during the war establishes its practicability for commercial uses and insures the creation in this country of a complete aerial service, connecting all cities and towns for the transportation of persons, mail and merchandise.

"Before the close of 1920 I confidently predict this service will be in full operation, with extensions to all countries on this hemisphere. In the United States trunk lines will be established across the country which will place every city and town within six hours from some twenty-four distributing points. Once created and in operation our extensive coast line could be put under complete protection from any possible invasion. Thousands of college trained aviators in and out of the service are now waiting to join in the operation of an aerial service.

"The government calls for 15,000 men to enlist in air service for one or three years' time. This is bound to receive a quick response, as here is an opportunity for men to be immediately assigned to duty in the service and of the number who enlist those who pass certain examinations will be given flying and balloon piloting instruction. This liberal offer is equivalent to a one or three years' college course in aeronautics, and one may become expert in all branches of aviation, and if qualified a noncommissioned or even a commissioned officer. In addition to regular pay, clothing, quarters and rations, extra pay begins with instructions to operate the aircraft. As the number of men wanted is limited to 15,000 for the entire country, quick application to the nearest recruiting officer will be necessary before the privilege is withdrawn.

"Everybody directly or indirectly interested in aviation should attend the Atlantic City convention and exhibition in order to keep abreast with the times and become familiar with the development of aircraft for defense and commercial uses and witness the demonstrations of the world's greatest airplane aviators, who will fly, and balloon pilots sail to the Atlantic air port from all over the country."

SECRETARY BAKER IN PARIS

No Draft Men to Stay in Germany—Talks of Disposition of Government Property.

Paris, April 16.—American troops to the number of 275,000 are returning to the United States from Europe during the present month, Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, said on his arrival in Paris from Brest.

In May, he added, the number will fall to 250,000 because of lack of transports, but in June the number probably will rise to 300,000, which will be maintained as the monthly rate until all of the 1,400,000 men still here are returned.

The secretary said that if any agreement should be reached by which American troops would participate in the defense of the Rhine indefinitely, undoubtedly the only soldiers used would be those who volunteered for such service.

Mr. Baker said he was in France to participate in the work of the American liquidation committee. He expects to go to Coblenz and the former fighting front with General Pershing and to return to the United States within ten days.

The secretary of war declared that no decision had yet been reached as to what disposition would be made of the docks, warehouses and other permanent improvements constructed in France by the United States government. He said that large quantities of captured guns and other war material would be taken to the United States as trophies. Much American heavy artillery equipment also will be returned, but no decision has yet been made as to the disposal of automobiles and motor trucks.

Belgium, the secretary said, is to get large quantities of cotton goods and foodstuffs from the American army.

YANKEE JOKER "MADE GOOD"

But for Reasons of His Own He Didn't Stop to See the Effect He Made on Poilus.

One of the "double-v" units numbers in its ranks a practical joker who generally scores a bull's-eye because he never "pulls" the same thing twice. Despite his long sojourn in France he still succeeds in putting something over on the poilus at regular intervals. For some months he had spread the report that inhabitants of certain portions of America's western plains had horns.

"And the first unit of horned specimens that come over, I will show them to you," he promised. When weeks and months passed without a redemption of the promise, the French began to doubt the Yankee's word.

Then one day he announced to a group of French friends that a detachment of Americans had arrived, most of whom had horns. He led them to a spot where a concert was being given by one of the regimental brass bands. "Most of 'em have horns," he said as he broke away to a flying start.—From the Spiker, France.

WRONG VIEWPOINT OF LIFE

Foolish "Modern Girls" Who Get the Idea That They Know Better Than Their Mothers.

Scene—The dressing room of a Broadway restaurant at the dinner hour. Two of the prettiest girls imaginable, both in frocks that suggested not the city shops, but the careful fashioning of mothers' hands, were smoking and laying on rouge, with lavish hand. And both were excited, for evidently things had been happening at home.

Said Rose and Black: "Those chumps told me that I hadn't been working there for six weeks. There was an awful row at home when she found out."

Her companion sneered complacently: "Well, I never tell my mother anything. My job's my own business. What's the use? They don't seem to understand that times have changed. You can't live in New York like they did in the backwoods when they were young. If they think I'm going to slave in an office at twelve a week and never go out at night and then marry someone who means the Bronx and three rooms they have another guess coming. Not for me."

Two pretty faces, hardened into lines that ill became them, turned toward the corridor and their waiting escorts.—New York Sun.

And we'll bet there's a lot of ancestors swearing through their beards at what they started.
